

Dear Tenant:

October 2000

Did you Receive A Income Verification Notice From HUD?

It's the process aimed at Residents flagged for UNDERPAYMENT of rents.

Originally HUD mailed out 250,000 Notices, but due to the high numbers of recorded "false positives" (30%) the program was put on hold.

With minor improvements the verification process has resumed, another aspect of the program will concentrate on OVERPAYMENTS by HUD residents.

OVERPAYMENTS do occur, such is the case of Ms. Rosalyn Noble, a resident of Shalom-Clemente Towers, who works as a TEACHER ASSISTANT, working approximately Ten (10) months out the year, however her salary was computed on a fifty two (52) week employment schedule, currently we are working to get her recertified.

However there exists no policy that defines how HUD will reimburse those residents who have OVERPAID.

As discussed at NAHT'S September 6,2000 meeting with HUD's Deputy Secretary Saul Ramalez and Assistant Secretary William (Bill) Apgar, more comprehensive training of field and site representatives is imperative if we are to avoid discrepancies that do not exist and the OVERCHANGING of residents who can least afford it.

Sincerely,
